Description

When RGW is not configured, user will see the following message:

The screenshot shows the Ceph dashboard interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Ceph logo on the left and links for 'Background-Tasks', 'Recent Notifications', and 'Logout' on the right. Below the navigation bar, there is a breadcrumb trail: 'Object Gateway'. A light blue information message box is displayed, containing an information icon and the text: 'Please consult the documentation on how to configure and enable the Object Gateway management functionality.'

The documentation link in this message is pointing to "Mimic" documentation instead of pointing to the correct ceph release.

(see "Help > Documentation" menu entry for an example on how to get the correct ceph release name)
