Description

Perhaps the more recent GCC is too strict to compile the old kernel tarball we use in the test?

Revision 1ea3f47a - 06/16/2015 03:15 PM - Greg Farnum

qa: update to newer Linux tarball

This should make newer gcc releases happier in their default configuration. kernel.org is now distributing tarballs as .xz files so we change to that as well when decompressing (it is supported by Ubuntu Precise so we should be all good).

Fixes: #11758
