Description Quoting Sage: For future reference, you can get a dump of all these values with <pre>ceph-osd -i 123 --show-config</pre> That option is understood by all commands/daemons and will dump teh config and exit. You can control whose config it shows with -i num or -n type.num. So <pre>ceph -n osd.123 --show-config</pre> is equivalent to the ceph-osd one above.

- Assignee set to John Wilkins

#2 - 11/16/2013 03:17 AM - Loïc Dachary

ceph --show-config --conf /dev/null

is convenient to display the defaults without talking to a running daemon

#3 - 11/16/2013 04:07 AM - Loïc Dachary

src/common/config.cc defines --show-config and other similar options that do not show in ceph --help

#4 - 07/23/2018 05:11 PM - Patrick Donnelly

- Status changed from New to Won't Fix

Obsolete with the new config redesign.
